

28th December 2011

Sue Rossiter to join the Remote Gambling Association

The Remote Gambling Association (RGA), the largest trade association for remote gambling operators in the world, has announced that Sue Rossiter will be joining them as Director of Projects and Policy as of 5th January 2012.

Sue Rossiter was previously Interim Principal Officer at the Gordon Moody Association, Deputy Chief Executive at the British Amusement and Catering Trades Association (BACTA) and Head of Policy at the Gambling Commission.

Clive Hawkswood, CEO said “We’re delighted that Sue is joining the RGA and to be able to add someone with her skills and experience to the team is a real coup for us.”

Commenting on her appointment, Sue added “I am very pleased to be joining the Remote Gambling Association, it has an excellent reputation among the industry and with regulators and I am looking forward to meeting and working with its members.”

Notes for Editors

1. The RGA is the largest online gambling trade association in the world, representing the world’s largest licensed and stock market-listed remote gambling operators and software provider’s .The organisation provides the remote gambling industry with a single voice on all issues of importance to regulators, legislators, and key decision-makers.
2. Its members include: 888; Ash Gaming; bet365; Betfair; bwin.party; Gala Coral;Danoptra; Gamesys; IGT; JAXX, Ladbrokes; Microgaming; Paddy Power; PKR; Playtech; Rank Group; SBOBET; Skybet; Sportingbet; Sportech; Stan James; Stanleybet; Talarius; Unibet; Viaden; Victor Chandler; Virgin; William Hill; and WMS.

For more information, contact:

Brian Wright, Director of Business (+44 (0)20 7831 2195 or bwright@rga.eu.com)